

PESA Seeding Grants

We want to bring philosophy of education back to our campuses. While international travel is restricted, we still (possibly) have the ability for universities to host local events. The PESA Executive would like to provide seeding grants (of up to $5,000AUD) for on-campus events to be held under the PESA banner. This will provide an opportunity to be face to face with other scholars. Applications can be made at anytime. We also encourage you to use these grants to hold hybrid on-campus events that correspond with the Zoom Conference. This will allow local communities of scholars to meet face-to-face, while also connecting online with the wider PESA membership.

Applying for a grant

To apply for a PESA seeding grant, send a proposal to secretary@pesa.org.au. Applications can be made at anytime. Your proposal should include:

- An outline of your budget that proposes how the money is to be spent.
- A description of how the event will promote the advancement of research and teaching in or using philosophy of education.
- An indication of the benefits the event is expected to bring to PESA.
- A 100 words abstract/overview of the event that can be advertised on the PESA website.

Assessment criteria

The grants sub-committee established by the PESA Executive will assess proposals. Potential conflicts of interest will be managed carefully. Proposals will be assessed according to the following criteria:

1. Promotes the advancement of, and research and teaching in, the Philosophy of Education
2. Clear benefits to PESA members and PESA
3. Is co-sponsored/co-funded by a local University/group (whether financially or discursively)
4. Main applicant is a PESA member
5. PESA Exec member cannot be a principal applicant (but can be named on the application)

Enquires

Any questions regarding the PESA seeding grants should be directed to the PESA secretary, secretary@pesa.org.au.
